TRAINING & AWARENESS

Developed by experienced travelers, expatriates and international security professionals, the course is split into core modules that focus on key topics such as...

- Preparing for a trip.
- Handling “what if” situations.
- Increasing awareness of key details to help keep the traveler safe.
- Learning how to blend into the crowd and avoid becoming an easy target.

These core modules have closed caption translations in English, French, Spanish, Polish & Turkish.

Training doesn't stop with these core modules.

Travelers also gain access to elective modules and self-study material. The elective modules provide guidance on defensive driving and expatriate security.

The elective modules provide additional guidance on subjects such as defensive driving, expatriate security, and surviving a hostage situation.

The self-study material includes security tools, cultural briefs and other information pertinent to the traveler's safety and is accessible via a website called the Traveler's Suitcase.

YOUR SAFETY & SECURITY

THE KIND OF PREPARATION YOU NEED

ABOUT SECOND NATURE®

An immersive training course providing security skills for the international traveler and critical resources in the event of a dangerous situation.

Completing this course is the kind of preparation your employees need to gain confidence, handle tough situations and return home safely.

The safety of your employees is too important to leave to chance.

At the end of this course, your employees will better understand the risks associated with international travel, and have the tools to mitigate those risks.

And, more importantly, they'll be able to travel with increased confidence as the security skills and resources in this course become "Second Nature".
